

CASE STUDY MALTBY SPORTS CENTRE

Project: Demolition of Maltby Sports Centre
Client: Wilmott Dixon Construction
Date: April 2010

Sports Centre bites the dust!

Working on behalf of Wilmott Dixon Construction, Ron Hull Demolition reduced the popular landmark to 4000 tonnes of rubble, which was then recycled at Ron Hull Group's Mangham Road, Rotherham premises.

The asbestos removal was carried out by the Ron Hull Demolition's Specialist in-house Team, followed by Soft Strip of the building and subsequent demolition by mechanical means utilizing a 45 tonne Excavator complete with Shear attachment.

The 50 tonne machine waded in at the deep end and the Building was demolished in two weeks with four weeks to clear up and level the site, followed by laying topsoil ready to accept grass seed.

This was the final phase of a project which initially started in 2008. Over 3 demolition phases Ron Hull Demolition Ltd. liaised/co-ordinated with Wilmott Dixon Construction to carry out demolition work that would allow areas of construction and minimal impact from the Client undertakings and local residents using the existing facilities throughout the duration of the works.
